

Rethink, reset, reimagine

2018 VHA Annual Conference | 16-17 August - MCG

Working towards a stronger Victorian health system

Highlights from the program:

The program will mix innovative, strategic thinking with practical case studies on key topics including workforce, infrastructure, funding, digital health and demand management.

The conference will include a range of panel discussions, keynote presentations, and networking opportunities and the chance to hear from the health representatives of Victoria's major parliamentary parties.

The program includes a networking event on the first evening and Digital Health Breakfast at the start of the second day.

Speakers include:

The Honorable Jill Hennessey - Minister for Health and Ambulance Services

Victoria will go to the polls on Saturday 24 November. The Hon. Minister Hennessey will share Victorian Labor's key health policy positions with conference attendees.

Sara James - Award-winning foreign correspondent, author and commentator

Sara James is an Emmy award winning foreign correspondent who has worked with NBC in America and is currently a regular on ABC News Breakfast as the American in Oz exploring everything American from Trump to Hollywood.

Dr Terry Sweeney - Managing Director, IBM Watson

Terry is the IBM Watson Health Commercial Leader for Asia Pacific, Japan and China. His particular area of focus is to lead a multi-million dollar business into new and emerging markets, at the intersection of AI, big data and healthcare.

The 2018 VHA Annual Conference will bring together leaders from within the public healthcare sector to discuss working towards a stronger Victorian health system.

The two-day conference will explore the pressures on the health system across Victoria from demand to constraints and fragmented funding.
